BARBARA E JONES

EMPOWERING COMMUNITIES TO ADDRESS GENDER-BASED VIOLENCE IN MYANMAR

Barbara is a philanthropist, civic leader and community volunteer dedicated to transforming the lives of women and girls and helping end gender-based violence worldwide. She was a founding member of WANDA, a California nonprofit that helps lift single mothers out of poverty. She currently serves on the Board of Regents at Georgetown University and the Board of Family and Children Services of Silicon Valley.

She is a member of the California Committee North of Human Rights Watch, a Trustee of the Nantucket Atheneum, and past President of the Nantucket Garden Club. She is also a supporter of Human Rights Watch, Global Fund for Women, The School Fund, GAIA, Eastside Prep and Silicon Valley Social Venture Fund (SV2). Barbara received her BA from Georgetown University in Sociology with a minor in Economics.
